The Testament of Tebaran: Borneo's Moment of Truth

Mattias Klum has dedicated nearly 25 years to exploring the unique flora and fauna of Borneo. In the Testament of Tebaran, he takes us deep into Borneo's rain forests, where deforestation and unsustainable land use change are taking a severe toll on the island's biodiversity and indigenous cultures, and contributing to a rise in global warming. Using photography to inspire conservation of our natural world, the exhibit's core message is the need to advance sustainable development worldwide. Select images have been published in National Geographic magazine (November 2008), and have been awarded First and Second Place prizes by Pictures of the Year International (POYi).
